- 1 Always check the ice thickness beforehand.
- 2 You cannot tell the strength of the ice by its appearance.
- 3 Many factors affect ice thickness including: type of water, location, and time of year.
- 4 If you fall through ice use the air trapped in your clothing to get into a floating position on your stomach.
- 5 Reach forward onto the broken ice without pushing down.
- 6 When you are back on ice, roll away from the open area to evenly distribute your weight.
